

TRIAL INVOLVES A RAID AT GOWDY

Sylvia Headlee Being Tried Before Jury In The Circuit Court On
Two Counts

THIRD CHARGE IS NOLLIED

Defendant Also Accused Of Drawing Deadly Weapon But This Will Come Up Later

Sylvia Headlee, merchant of Gowdy, was on trial today in the circuit court before a jury and Special Judge Fred Hines of Noblesville,
on a charge involving a liquor raid,
and on two counts of an affidavit, alleging that the defendant maintained a nuisance and for the unlawful transportation of liquor.

The first count, charging unlawful possession of liquor, was nollied on account of the decision of the Supreme court.

Impaneling of the jury and opening statements of the attorneys were completed before noon, and the evidence was begun this afternoon. The case was not expected to be given over to the jury until sometime Saturday.

It will be recalled that the raid was made on the defendant's home in Gowdy last summer by several members of the Horse Thief Detective association and Ed. Spradling, deputy sheriff, and a small amount of liquor was said to have been found.

The defendant also is held on a charge of drawing a deadly weapon, and Officer Spradling in his testimony stated that he "pulled" a gun on him following the raid. This charge, however, will come up later.

The court room was well filled today with residents of the Gowdy neighborhood, many of whom were summoned as witnesses. The state had only a few witnesses, which included members of the raiding party.

The jury selected for the case is composed of the following: Jesse Logan, N. P. Jones, Elmer Emsweller, Otis Freeman, Omer Gartin, Horace Gidden, Karl Kennedy, William Summan, Jess R. Drake, Ross Smith, Warren P. Elder and Ed Walker.

Judge Sparks this morning overruled the petition of Alvin Clark against Zada Clark Banyard, in which the plaintiff asked the court to modify a decree concerning the payment of support money for minor children, following a divorce of several years ago, and the plaintiff will have to continue to make the payments.

In the case of the Public Savings
Insurance Company against Earl Bever, et al., a complaint to foreclose a mortgage, the court has appointed Will M. Prazee as receiver and bond placed at $10,000.

The case of Charles F. Baxter against Charles O. Garriott, administrator of the estate of Henry M.
Earnest, a claim against the estate,
has been dismissed.

BANKRUPTCY EFFORTS ARE TO BE OPENED

Attorney For DOLLINGS Receiver Says Proceedings by Stockholders Will Be Fought

REORGANIZATION BEST PLAN

(By United Press)

Indianapolis, Sept. 28—Bankruptcy proceedings against any of the Dollings interests in Indiana will be vigorously opposed, Harold Taylor, attorney for Bert M. Bride, receiver, said today.

Taylor's statement was in answer to growing dissatisfaction on the part of some of the Randolph county holders of Dollings securities over the administration of the receivership.

A great majority of the stockholders favor reorganization and not liquidation, Taylor said, adding that through reorganization the stockholders will find their interests best protected.

Recently there has been considerable talk that bankruptcy proceedings would be instituted. This has been pleasing to certain interests who would obtain valuable properties at bankruptcy prices, Taylor said.

GERMANY STILL JUMPY, NERVOUS

People Live In Momentarily Expectation Of Outbreak Following Thursday's Developments

EVENTS DON'T JUSTIFY IT

Dictatorship Of Von Kahr In Bavaria Not Regarded As Maneuver
For Separation

By CARL D. GROAT
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
Berlin, Sept. 28—Germany today was still jumpy and nervous fearing
a revolution around the corner.

Following yesterday's startling development in which the Reich government declared limited martial law throughout the nation to off-set a similar declaration in Bavaria, the population lived in momentarily expectation of an outbreak.

Military rule, if anything, tended to heighten the popular apprehension.
The people seemed to think that the terror of dissolution, which has buried in the back of many Germans' minds ever since the revolution which followed the armistice, was about to be realized.

Manich messages, however, so far, have failed to justify the jumpiness of the population. It began to appear popular nervousness was greater than events so far have justified.

Indeed, as the day began it was

ONCE CITIZEN OF THE COUNTY

The suggestion of Douglas Morris
of a memorial similar to the one for Dr. William B. Laughlin, first Rush county citizen, in memory of Governor Samuel Bigger, once a Rush county citizen and former governor of Indiana, was made soon after a tablet to mark the grave of Governor Bigger was unveiled in McCulloch park at Fort Wayne, newspaper dispatches from Fort Wayne reveal. Regarding the unveiling, the Fort Wayne dispatch
continues:

The exercises were held under the auspices of the Fort Wayne Historical society. Samuel Bigger was elected governor of Indiana in 1840
at a time when Indiana was in financial turmoil and legislative difficulties. He made possible the establishment of the Indiana School for Feeble-Minded Youth.

His body was the only one not removed from the graveyard which is now McCulloch park, to Linden-wood cemetery. The original inscription on a small headpiece was:
"Samuel Bigger, late Governor of the state, died September 9, 1846, in the forty-fifth year of his age. A patriot and a Christian, he died in the full hope of a glorious immortality."

The donor of the tablet unveiled today is E. A. Barnes, assistant to the general manager of the Ft.
Wayne plant of the General Electric Company. Fred B. Shoaff, president of the Allen County Bar Association, made the principal address.

SPECIAL SCHOOL HACK TAX IS DUE

Owners Required To Pay Federal Levy By Sept. 30, According To Revenue Office Statement

PENALTIES ARE PROVIDED

Tax Applies To All Persons Hauling Passengers For Hire By Means Of Automotive Power

A statement by the collector of internal revenue in the district of which Indianapolis is the center, calls attention to the fact that the federal tax on automobiles used to haul people for hire must be paid by September 30.

Thetax is levied on school hacks and school automobiles, as well as auto buses and all classes of automobiles that are used to haul passengers for hire. The following statement calls attention to the fact that the tax must be paid on or before Sunday, or a penalty will be invoked:

"Individual owners of school hacks and school automobiles, that are hauling children for hire are subject to a special federal tax the same as individuals operating taxi cabs or automobiles for hire.

"This tax is now due and must be paid and be in the hands of the Collector of Internal Revenue on or before the last day of the month, or September 30th, failure to pay this tax on time means a penalty of 25 percent of the tax as well as an additional specific penalty of $1,000.

"Application for the above tax must be signed before a Notary Public or some one authorized to witness a signature, and remittance for same must be by certified check bank draft or money order, payable to M. Bert Thurman, collector of Internal revenue, personal checks are not accepted in payment of special taxes.

"This is very important to those concerned, as an application for a special tax must be filed within the month in which the tax payer begins business, failure to do so means that the penalty will be applied and collected.

"The above applies to all persons hauling passengers for hire by means of motive power."

COUNTY CONFERENCE TO BE HELD THURSDAY

Christian Churches Will Meet At Big Flatrock And The Rev. C. M.
Yocum Will Speak

AN EXCELLENT PROGRAM

The annual county conference of the Christian churches of Rush county will be held at the Big Flat-rock church, southwest of Rushville, next Thursday, and a representative attendance from all of the seventeen congregations of the county is expected.

The Rev. C. M. Yocum of St.
Louis, formerly pastor of the Main Street church here, who is now one of the executive secretaries of the United Christian Missionary society will attend the county conference and will make the principal address. The Rev. Mr. Yocum was here for the annual county meeting and basket dinner of the Christian churches last July, which was held at Memorial park, and consented to return here for the regular meeting of the county organization.

An excellent program is being arranged for the evening and the Big Flatrock congregation is exerting itself to provide splendid entertainment for the visitors. Some of the officers of the state organization will be present, but it is not known here who they will be.

New officers will be elected at the business session. Walter E. Frazee, who has been county president for the past few years, has gone to Long Beach California, for permanent residence, and his successor will be named at that time.

INVITES GOVERNORS TO CALL

Coolidge Asks Executives at West
Baden to Attend Conference

Madison, Wis., Sept. 28—President Coolidge today requested the governors who plan to attend a conference of governors at West Baden, Ind., October 17, to meet with him in Washington immediately after conclusion of their meeting.

Miles C. Riley, secretary of the West Baden conference, wired Bascom Slep, secretary to Mr. Coolidge that the governors would be in Washington on October 20.

While the telegram from the White House did not state the nature of the Washington conference, it was assumed prohibition enforcement would be discussed.

LIBERALS PLAN A FARM SUBSIDY

Money Will Be Slashed Ruthlessly From Appropriations For Government Departments

WOULD WRECK BUDGET PLAN

Farm Bloc Leaders Say They Will Hold This Program as Club Over Administration

By LAWRENCE MARTIN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
(Copyright 1923)

Washington, Sept. 28—Unless effective help is rendered the farmers the agricultural and liberal bloc in congress will get behind "a farm subsidy bill" in December, the money for which will be slashed ruthlessly from appropriations for government departments.

This is the heroic measure determined on by the bloc leaders, who are patting the utmost pressure on the administration to start action on the agricultural problem.

If such a revolutionary step were resorted to, it would mean wrecking of the governments whole budget program and would involve a fight to a knockout between administration forces and the liberals, who will hold the balance of power in congress.

Just what form the bill would take
has not been determined as bloc leaders, who have discussed the plan
say they will hold it as a last resort, keeping it as a club over the administration to force action instead of more talk and conference about the farm.

But the idea back of the plan is that no money shall be granted for the shipping board or for numerous bureaus of the government until the farmer has been taken care of.

more than 125.

Eugene Pulliam of Franklin, re-

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 28.—A terrific wind and rain storm swept Nebraska from the Wyoming line almost to the Missouri river, a distance of 450 miles last night, demoralizing wire communication and doing considerable property damage.
There were no casualties.

Twenty-five fruit cars were blown from the Union Pacific tracks, street signs blown down and several houses wrecked at Bushnell Neb., where the storm originated.

The storm swept eastward, the wind diminishing and the rain increasing. At Grand Island, 300 miles east of Bushnell 3 inches of rain fell within half an hour.

Casper, Wyo., Sept. 28.—Rescue of additional survivors today from the wreckage of train number 30 on the Burlington railroad which plunged through a bridge 14 miles from here cut the number missing to 20.
They are probably dead, in the opinion of C. A. McBride, assistant superintendent in charge of the rescue work.

All members of the train crew,
first believed lost were found alive
on the wreckage just out of reach, of the swirling waters of the little mountain stream swollen torrent by a cloud burst. All were seriously injured.

McBride's tabulation showed, of the sixty passengers and six train-men aboard, the following were saved:

Thirty-two passengers in the two rear sleepers which remained on the tracks.

Fourteen passengers who were in the two day coaches which tumbled into the creek. Most of these were seriously injured.

The train crew of six.

This leaves twenty still unaccounted for.

A flagman, Harry Cruze, was the only member of the train crew who escaped.

He was standing on the rear platform of the last Pullman when the train plunged into the torrent.
"I grabbed a rope and threw a line to passengers clinging to portions of the wreck above water," Cruze said. "About a dozen were

GOV. WALTON FACES 2 SERIOUS CHARGES

Law Permitting Special Session And Jurisdiction Sought by Opponents in Oklahoma

LEGISLATORS RETURN HOME

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 28—
Governor J. C. Walton today faced two serious threats in his battle to prevent the Oklahoma legislature from meeting in extra session to start impeachment proceedings against him.

First is the special election set for October 2, and held to be legal by the Supreme Court at which voters of the state will ballot upon an initiated law which would permit the legislature to set in a special session without call from the governor.

Second was the application for an injunction filed in the district court of Oklahoma county which would prevent the military authorities mobilized by Governor Walton to "suppress insurrection and riot" from interfering with the proposed meeting.

Members of the legislature who attempted unsuccessfully to assemble on Wednesday departed for their homes today and will await call from their leaders.

The governor extended the enforcement of drastic martial law to Murray county on appeal from residents of Sulphur, a village of that county.

number of Rotary and popular songs and listened to vocal solos by Rotarians from the Shelbyville, Greensburg and Franklin clubs, and instrumental selections by the Neat trio.

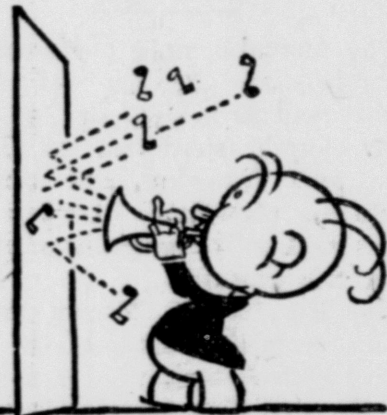

Judge Sparks made the first address and deeply impressed the audience with his plea for the projection of the Rotary ideal of service into the everyday life of the community. He made the point that service is love and that men can not be of service to their fellows with hate and malice wrapped up in their hearts. Judge Sparks pleaded with Rotarians not to forget the good resolutions that they made around the banquet table, but to act on them and carry them out the next day and for all the days to come.

Other speakers followed the suggestions of Judge Sparks regarding the theory of service and Rollin Turner, in particular, laid particular stress on the importance of Rotarians living up their ideals in their business relations.

The district governor spoke on business methods, which is being stressed by Rotary International this year, and cited numerous examples of Rotarians who had put the theory of Rotary into actual practice in their retail, wholesale and manufacturing establishments, with especially splendid results.

He compared with business methods of today and of days past and showed how the successful business man of this age makes service to his customers the aim of his concern, because satisfied customers are the kind who come back.

No other piston rings are like Perfect Circle Oil-Regulating Rings! The simple, patented principle by which they use all the oil necessary—but no more—and return the surplus oil to the crankcase, is an exclusive Perfect Circle feature.

AMUSEMENTS

"Gimme" At The Mystic

Another one of Goldwyn's Rapert Hughes pictures, a smiling comedy-drama of everyday American life, with a tear lurking in it, is coming to the Mystic Theatre today. It is called "Gimme" and the scenario was written by Mr. Hughes and his wife, Adelaide Hughes. It is said to be a picture which will appeal to every woman because it deals with that subject of perennial interest to womankind, a wife's financial dependence upon her husband—even for pocket money. All husbands and prospective husbands should see it to get a line on how to arrange domestic financial matters to keep their wives contented and happy.

Fanny Daniels marries Clinton Ferris, son of the wealthy Mrs. Roland Ferris, who objects to his throwing himself away on a mere designer in an interior decorating shop and promptly throws him upon his own financial resources. These prove not to be very great and Fanny finds herself wearing shabby clothes. She has no money and is ashamed to ask Clinton for it. Necessity finally drives her to ask and he gives her permission to draw out $200 from the $500 which they have in the bank. Fanny, however, is forced to draw out the entire amount to pay back a loan from the proprietor of the interior decorating shop to escape his unwelcome attentions. And when Clinton's check for $300 is returned marked no good there is an explosion and going back to her old job. A reconciliation later takes place and Fanny is no longer forced to utter the hated "gimme."

Many Thrills At Princess

Twenty thousand dollars was spent by Thomas H. Ince in filming a remarkable historical prologue which is used in "Scars of Jealousy," his latest production. "Scars of Jealousy" will be shown at the Princess theatre today and Saturday.

A powerful story that carries a striking illustration of the force of heredity has been told in this production, which is laid in the little known feud hills of northern Alabama. When a "Cajon" boy, a lineal descendant of Count Cartier de Jacques who fled from France in pre-Revolution days and who, with other French emigres or "Acadians" was driven out of Nova Scotia by the British, is adopted by a fine old southern colonel, his blue blood triumphs over sordid hill generations. He works out not only his own salvation but also that of the colonel's wayward son.

The spectacular prologue shows the defiance of the famous old count; the sentence pronounced on him by Louis XV and his escape after a bloody street fight. When the news that he has fled to America is brought to the monarch, spectators who have gathered in the great throne room, burst into cheers, heralding the outbreak which resulted in the beheading of Louis XVI a short time later.

The scenes of the prologue have been screened with scrupulous historical fidelity and carry a tremendous "punch." They offer a striking contrast to the later scenes of the primitive conditions under which the descendants of the French nobility, "moonshiner" refugees in the Alabama hills, are living today.

HOW TO GET ON:—Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find.—Matthew 7: 7.The Farmer and The Tariff

The broad statement that the tariff is of no benefit to the farmer is an assertion that is very likely to be accepted as true by many wheat producers in the Middle West who will be predisposed to accept any such theory because of the low prices they have suffered in recent months. Calm consideration of all the facts, however, will show that the statement is erroneous.

The word "farmer" includes many more of our citizens than the grain producers alone. In fact, wheat is only about six percent of our total agricultural production.

In the columns of agricultural papers there have recently been printed comparative figures concerning prices of wool. In these statements it has been shown that the price of wool began advancing with the enactment of the Emergency Agricultural Tariff law and that the price has been on a profitable basis ever since, although wool producers were in distress before that tariff was imposed. It is admitted by agricultural papers not having any political affiliation that the wool tariff was the chief agency in restoring a profitable price for wool.

At the first suggestion that there be a reduction of the tariff on vegetable oils as one of their raw materials, there was a vigorous protest among the farmers of that section of the country which produces cotton seed or soy bean oil. They fully recognize the fact that the tariff on vegetable oils is their only guaranty against destructive competition from the cheap vegetable oils of the Orient. When it was proposed that there be an investigation of the tariff on lemons with a view to reducing the present duty on imports, there was an equally vigorous protest from the lemon growers of California who have on previous occasions experienced the destructive effects of the cheap importations from Europe.

But if this question was considered only from the standpoint of the interest of the wheat grower, a similar situation would be found. It is true that in the present season when there is an enormous domestic surplus and a poor market abroad, the tariff is of least benefit to the wheat grower. But even under these unusual and abnormal conditions the tariff has saved the American wheat grower from even lower prices than he has already suffered. The facts are clearly and concisely stated in a recent article in "The Nation's Business" by Julius H. Barnes, President of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and former U. S. Wheat Director. Mr. Barnes says:

"It plainly does not square with the present fact to state that protective duty on wheat is of no benefit to the American farmer, because in the American Northwest where crop yields have been most unfavorably affected this year and, therefore, the need of adequate price is most insistent, the effect of this protection against similar qualities of wheat produced just across the intangible line of the Canadian border is clearly marked. For instance, the new crop of northern spring wheat of strong milling qualities has advanced in price recently in the Minneapolis market until it could be sold for fall delivery at $1.15 per bushel. The same-quality wheat of equal milling value for fall delivery in the Winnipeg market will not bring over 95 cents at the time this comparison is written. Moreover, the Canadian farmer is paid in Canadian dollars which are 2 percent below American dollars in buying value today."

Without the American protective tariff, of which Canadian farmers are greatly complaining, the surplus in the American market would be augmented by the surplus available in Canada.

Firpo Knocked Out in First

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 28—No loser ever won more prestige or earned more glory in defeat than Luis Angel Firpo did when he was knocked out by Jack Dempsey in a fight that for thrills, action and savage fighting surpassed any drama ever enacted in a ring or on the stage.

Rather unfortunately for him, Firpo was not restrained by his advisors from making some alibi about the referee that, even if they were true, retracted somewhat from the sportsmanship that the Argentine was thought to have possessed.

Firpo did not need an alibi for the showing he made in the ring against the champion. He was not expected to make any excuses for a showing that was the bravest and most gallant that a fighter has ever shown in such an important contest.

When Firpo said that he was fouled twice by Dempsey he was partially right. Dempsey did hit him once on the breakaway; Dempsey did hit him on one occasion when the round had ended, and the champion may have punched him once before he was back in a fighting position after a knockdown.

Firpo should have known, however, that the infractions of the rules were staged when both fighters were in such a frenzy of excitement and when they were both punched so dizzy that they had no idea that rules ever existed and when they were influenced only by the savage dictates of selfpreservation.

Perhaps Firpo does not know it, because he admitted after the fight that he did not hear the timekeeper coming at any time during the bout, but Firpo should take the word of unprejudiced writers in the press-box who KNOW that he was knocked out in the first round before Dempsey had done anything about which he complained.

Early in the first round, Firpo was on the floor for the count of ten. He was not declared out because the new system of counting established in New York failed to work perfectly under the stress and intense excitement of the moment.

There are two timekeepers at the ringside, as provided for in the New York rules. One handles the bell and the other timekeeper arises on a knockdown and calls the count from his watch. The referee follows the count of the timekeeper.

When Firpo went to the floor this particular time, the timekeeper reached ten, beyond all question of doubt. He hesitated then, apparently expecting the referee to declare: "Out". The referee looked at the timekeeper and just as apparently thought that it was his duty to declare the fight ended.

In that second or two of hesitation, Firpo arose to his feet and the fight went on, although he had been really knocked out.

Dempsey's offense in hitting Firpo on the breakaway did not make him liable for disqualification. Both fighters were told, even if it should have been unnecessary, that they were to defend themselves at all times, and when Firpo failed to do so, it was his own fault.

The champion could have been disqualified for not going to a neutral corner after each down and for striking Firpo after the gong had ended the first round. However, the referee did not discriminate against Firpo in failing to declare Dempsey the loser on a foul.

It was just as apparent to the ringsiders as it was known by the referee that Dempsey was not in full possession of his faculties. It was realized that he hadn't heard the bell in the first round and that his head was so clouded that he couldn't find his corner until one of his seconds came out after him.

The Score Board

With a rookie pitcher and three substitutes, the Yankees beat the Red Sox, 8 to 3. Bob Muesel wrenched his knee on the bases and Pipp turned an ankle before the game.

O'Farrell's homer with two on gave the Cubs an early lead and they beat the Pirates 8 to 2.

The Tigers gained a game on the Cleveland Indians in the fight for second place, by beating them 5 to 4. Heilman's eighteenth homer won the game.

Boeckel's homer with two on upset Jimmy Ring and the Braves beat the Phils 7 to 2.

REPLEVIN SUIT HEARD

The replevin suit of the Starr Piano company against Scott and Lizzie Lawson, for possession of a phonograph, was heard by Justice Steeh in his court and judgment for the plaintiff was awarded when the defendants defaulted. The phonograph involved in the action was taken, and turned over to the plaintiffs to satisfy their lien.

BIG TEN BRIEFS

Columbus. —While the line men were kept busy tackling the dummy, Coach Widge gave his back field candidates individual instruction in open field running, showing them the art of side-stepping and stiff arm guarding.

Iowa City, Ia. —Coach Tad Jones is making so many changes in the line up these days he sends his charges through the signal drill, it is impossible to guess how he will arrange his men against Oklahoma Saturday. Roberts seems to be a fixture at half, displacing Yorke. Chicago. —Following his customary Coach Staggs is expected to employ little outside of line backs when he sends his men against Michigan Aggies here Saturday. He will keep his tricks under cover until the conference season starts. John Thomas, hero of the 1922 campaign, shows steady improvement and may be ready within two weeks.

Minneapolis, Minn. —Two Minnesota regulars were put on the injured list, yesterday. Madison, Wis. —Tom Nichols, center on the Badger eleven will be out of the game for several weeks with an injured shoulder. The rest of the team came through a hard scrimmage session without damage. Bloomington, Ind. —Coach Ingram cut his squad from 65 to 55 and then urged more than 100 huskies in the school to come "out and draw suits and get into the game." He said he needed more substitutes to fall back on in case of injuries.

Urbana, Ill. —Filling his varsity line with the heaviest men available, Coach Bob Zupke put a team on the field which for the first time this season successfully turned back the freshman attack. The backfield men were not worked hard.

Ann Arbor, Mich. —Coach Yost called off a schedule scrimmage session to give his charges a lecture, telling them where they have been doing it all wrong and showing them how to do it right.

South Bend, Ind. —Although several of his regulars on the hospital list, Coach Knute Rockne has selected its team as it will face Kalamazoo college Saturday. His men were given a light workout yesterday.

Evanston, Ill. —Bob Wienecke, Northwestern's toe artist was on the field again yesterday after recovering from an attack of boils and lifted the oval consistently over the 55 foot mark. While Coach Thistlewaite tutored the backfield men, Duke dunne and "Chuck" Carney, drove the line and wing men through some intensive work.

Lafayette, Ind. —Coach Phelan gave his men heavy drill in forward passing and open field running in preparation for the game Saturday against the freshmen. He did not work the linemen hard.

20 KILLED IN RAIL BRIDGE COLLAPSE

pulled to shore safely over this life line.

Due to the storm, telephone lines were down and great difficulty was experienced in summoning aid.

H. C. Babb, an ice man of Casper was the first to bring news of the disaster here. A relief train carrying doctors and nurses was immediately dispatched.

Survivors said there were five men in the smoker when the train plunged into the creek. The smoker was just behind the baggage car and was the first to hit the water.

These five with all occupants of the day coach and all but about five who were in the second day coach were believed to have perished without a chance to save themselves.

Most of those aboard the train, enroute from Casper to Denver, were believed to be residents of those two towns and other intermountain cities.

It was nearly two hours after the wreck when Babb reached Casper with the news. He was shaken and haggard and nearly a nervous wreck from his experience.

Rescue workers who toiled throughout the early hours of the morning were unable to make much progress due to the high water.

Five passengers who escaped from the submerged day coaches with minor injuries, were being cared for on the east bank of the river by rescue workers sent from her on a special train.

The Burlington crosses the Big Muddy near Lockett, about 14 miles from Casper.

The Burlington superintendent in charge of the rescue train telephoned the dispatcher's office here that he believed between 35 and 40 had lost their lives.

Besides two day coaches, a mail, a baggage and an express car went into the creek and were completely covered by the little stream which is usually little more than a brooklet.

Rain had been falling throughout the day along the head waters of the Big Muddy but railroad officials did not have a thought that there would be any danger.

No. 30 was traveling about 40 miles an hour when it hit the bridge weakened by water.

The bridge crumpled beneath the engine. As the engine nose-dived into the deep water and mud, the other cars went over it in leap-frog fashion. One chair car and one Pullman were only partly submerged and passengers who escaped sprawled to the upper ends in terrified groups. Only two coaches of the seven car train failed to go into the water.

Charles McLocken, of Denver, who escaped from one of the day coaches said he didn't believe more than 15 in the two passenger coaches were saved.

"I believe there were at least 100 in the two coaches," he said.

The conductor of the train apparently lost his life, as railroad officials have not heard from him since the wreck. He carried the records and it will be impossible to check up definitely the number of passengers aboard.

"I was sitting about the middle of the front day coach," McLocken said.

"The train appeared to be traveling at normal speed. Suddenly I felt a jar as apparently the baggage car in front of our coach went into the water.

"Almost instantly the front end of our car started to tip downwards.

"I jumped through a window and cleared the car just as it became submerged. With a few others I made my way to shore. We helped pull two or three injured from the water and then sent couriers to nearby phones to summon aid."

evident the Bavarian dictatorship of Dr. Von Kahr, at least in its inception, certainly was not a maneuver to further separation of Bavaria from the Reich, or designed against the federal government.

Indeed, events indicated the Bavarian dictatorship was an iron-handed eleventh hour move to halt the Bavarian Fascists, led by Herr Hitler and supported by General Ludendorff, both of whom Von Kahr apparently hates as plotters behind the scenes.

Munich advices said Von Kahr was particularly determined that Ludendorff's constantly plotting for the restoration of the monarchy shall be stopped.

The 24 hour strike called by communists when cessation of passive resistance was ordered, apparently was only partly successful.

In Berlin the federal authority vested in national Dictator Gessler seemed to have general support. Leaders, government officials and representatives of employers throughout the Reich met last night and pledged themselves to support the government.

DEATH OF A BRIDE OF LESS THAN YEAR PROBED

Examination to Determine Whether Mrs. Charles Webb Died of Natural Causes

DAUGHTER OF MILLIONAIRE

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 28—Toxicologists are making an examination today to determine whether Mrs. Charles Webb, daughter of S. Jennings Gorman, millionaire, was poisoned or died of natural causes. Mrs. Webb, a bride of less than a year died at the West Chester Biltmore Club last Tuesday. Dr. Wilber Meyer, the attending physician, asked Coroner Fitzgerald to make an examination prior to the signing of a death certificate.

"The test is being made because there was doubt as to whether Mrs. Webb died a natural death," the coroner said today.

"An aunt and uncle of the deceased, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Hunter of Devon, Pa., joined with the physician in asking for the examination."

The dead woman's viscera was removed and turned over to Dr. Goettler, New York Toxicologist, and several other experts in poisons. Their report is expected today or tomorrow.

OBTAINS RELEASE OF HER HUSBAND AND AUTO

Mrs. George Remus Puts Up Checks Amounting to $3,500 in Shelbyville Court

AFTERMATH OF AUTO WRECK

Shelbyville, Ind., Sept. 28—Mr. and Mrs. George Remus of Cincinnati, O., have left this city, taking Mrs. Remus's big touring car in which a quantity of whisky was found following an accident east of Morristown last week, and also driving away the roadster that Remus drove to Shelbyville and that was held as surety for the check he presented as bond following his arrest here on a charge of transporting intoxicating liquor.

Mrs. Remus arrived in Shelbyville from Cincinnati with funds to cover the bonds for the release of her husband and his car, and to obtain her own automobile, which she claims was stolen from in front of her home in Cincinnati. A certified check for $1,000 was given as the bond of Remus and a check for $2,500 was given by Mrs. Remus for the release of her automobile. The case of Remus for transporting intoxicating liquor has been set for Oct. 8 in Police court here. Authorities stated today that no further development has been made in the investigation of the finding of the whisky in the automobile east of Morristown. Remus asserts that he was in Louisville on the night of the wreck and that he had no knowledge of the liquor, stating that the car being used had been stolen. Federal prohibition officers, attached to the office of Bert Morgan, federal prohibition director at Indianapolis, are continuing their work on the case in preparation for the trial of Remus here on October 8.

TO THE MAN-

Who knows a good thing when he sees it,
Who is the "live wire" business man in his locality,
Who has both feet on the ground and can see into the future, his opportunity to grow bigger—To this man this message is dedicated.

We are one of the oldest and largest automobile concerns in the country. Our financial resources are second to none. We will announce about October 4th, a new 6 cylinder automobile, representing the utmost mechanical superiority and engineering principles. The production on this new model will run in excess to 150,000 cars.

Think of a Light 6 that will sell from $750.00 to $775.00 f. o. b. or closed models that will sell from $900.00 to $1095.00 f. o. b. Think what this means to YOU? To the man with the above qualifications it means his opportunity, not only to make money, but an opportunity to see his business grow and expand into the largest in his community.

HIGH SCHOOL PRESS IN SESSION TONIGHT

Senator Watson And Others Will Speak at Annual Meeting of State Press Association

MANY PUPILS WILL ATTEND

Franklin, Ind., Sept. 28—Senator James E. Watson, Fred Shortenier, former Washington Correspondent; Lee D. White, editorial chief of the Detroit Evening News, and James A. Stuart, managing editor of The Indianapolis Star, will be the headline speakers for the annual banquet of the Indiana High School Press Association to be held here this evening. The banquet will be the red letter event of the press convention and according to reservations already made more than three hundred high school journalists and Indiana newspaper men will attend.

The four speakers are all Hoosiers. Three of them are still active in Indiana affairs, and Mr. White is a former DePauw University man. He is now editorial chief of the Detroit News and is a member of the faculty of the Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University. Eugene Pulliam, editor of Franklin Star, who last week purchased the Lebanon Reporter, will be toastmaster for the banquet. Franklin college students in charge of the convention are arranging a series of clever entertainment stunts.

Interest in the press convention has become state-wide and practically every newspaper in Indiana has made favorable editorial comment on the plans and purposes of the association. The organization of high school journalists was perfected at a convention here last year and has become the strongest high school association in the state, the Indiana High School Athletics Association alone excepted.

TRIAL INVOLVES A RAID AT GOWDY

Jury In The Circuit Court On
Two Counts

THIRD CHARGE IS NOLLED

Defendant Also Accused Of Drawing Deadly Weapon But This Will Come Up Later

Sylvia Headlee, merchant of Gowdy, was on trial today in the circuit court before a jury and Special Judge Fred Hines of Noblesville,
on a charge involving a liquor raid,
and on two counts of an affidavit, alleging that the defendant unlawfully transported a liquor.

The first count, charging unlawful possession of liquor, was nolled on account of the decision of the Supreme court.

Impaneling of the jury and opening statements of the attorneys were
completed before noon, and the evidence was begun this afternoon. The case was not expected to be given over to the jury until sometime Saturday.

It will be recalled that the raid was made on the defendant's home in Gowdy last summer by several members of the Horse Thief Detective association and Ed Spradling, deputy
sheriff, and a small amount of liquor was said to have been found.

The defendant also is held on a charge of drawing a deadly weapon, and Officer Spradling in his
testimony stated that he "pulled" a gun on him following the raid. This charge, however, will come up later.

The court room was well filled today with residents of the Gowdy
neighborhood, many of whom were summoned as witnesses. The state had only a few witnesses, which included members of the raiding
party.

The jury selected for the case
is composed of the following: Jesse Logan, N. P. Jones, Elmer Emswiler, Otis Freeman, Omer Garlin, Horace Gladden, Karl Kennedy, William Summan, Jess E. Drake, Ross Smith, Warren P. Elder and Ed Walker.

Judge Sparks this morning overruled the petition of Alvin Clark against Zada Clark Bunyard, in which the plaintiff asked the court to modify a decree concerning the payment of support money for minor
children, following a divorce of several years ago, and the plaintiff will have to continue to make the payments.

In the case of the Public Savings
Insurance Company against Earl Bever, et al., a complaint to fore-
close a mortgage, the court has appointed Will M. Preece as receiver and bond placed at $10,000.

The case of Charles E. Baxter against Charles O. Garfield, administrator of the estate of Henry M.
Earnest, a claim against the estate,
has been dismissed.

BANKRUPTCY EFFORTS ARE TO BE OPENED

Attorney For Holdings Receiver Says Proceedings By Stockholders Will Be Feared

REORGANIZATION BEST PLAN

(By United Press)
Indianapolis, Sept. 28—Bankruptcy proceedings against any of the Holdings interests in Indiana will be vigorously opposed, Harold Taylor, attorney for Bert M. Bridge, receiver, said today.

Taylor's statement was in answer
to growing dissatisfaction on the part of some of the Randolph county holders of Holdings securities over the administration of the receiver-ship.

A great majority of the stockholders favor reorganization and
not liquidation, Taylor said, adding that through reorganization the
stockholders will find their interests best protected.

Recently there has been considerable talk that bankruptcy proceedings would be instituted. This has been pleasing to certain interests who
would obtain valuable properties at bankruptcy prices, Taylor said.

TO HOLD OPENING MEETING

Church To Begin Sessions Sunday

The Epworth League society, of church, a young people's organization, will have their opening meeting of the year Sunday evening in the Sunday school room of the church. The league has not been holding services during the summer months, and it is very urgent that all the members attend the opening meeting for the year.

Miss Louise Innis, the president of the society will have charge of the services and is arranging a splendid program. Special music will be provided by Miss Helen Jaehne, Latin teacher in the local high school. A special speaker will

People Live In Momentarily Expectation Of Outbreak Following Thursday's Developments

EVENTS DON'T JUSTIFY IT

Dictatorship Of Von Kahr In Ba-
varia Not Regarded As Maneuver
For Separation

By CARL D. GROAT
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
Berlin, Sept. 28—Germany today
was still jumpy and nervous fearing
a revolution around the corner.

Following yesterday's startling
development in which the Reich government declared limited martial
law throughout the nation to off-set
a similar declaration in Bavaria, the population lived in momentary expectation of an outbreak.

Military rule, if anything, tended
to heighten the popular apprehension.
The people seemed to think that the terror of dissolution, which has lurked in the back of many Germans' minds ever since the revolution which followed the armistice, was about to be realized.

March messages, however, so far,
have failed to justify the jumpiness
of the population. It began to appear popular nervousness was greater than events so far have justified.

Indeed, as the day began it was

TABLET TO FORMER GOV. BIGGER UNVEILED

Fort Wayne Citizen Honor Memory Of Citizen It Is Suggested Rush County Should Honor

ONCE CITIZEN OF THE COUNTY

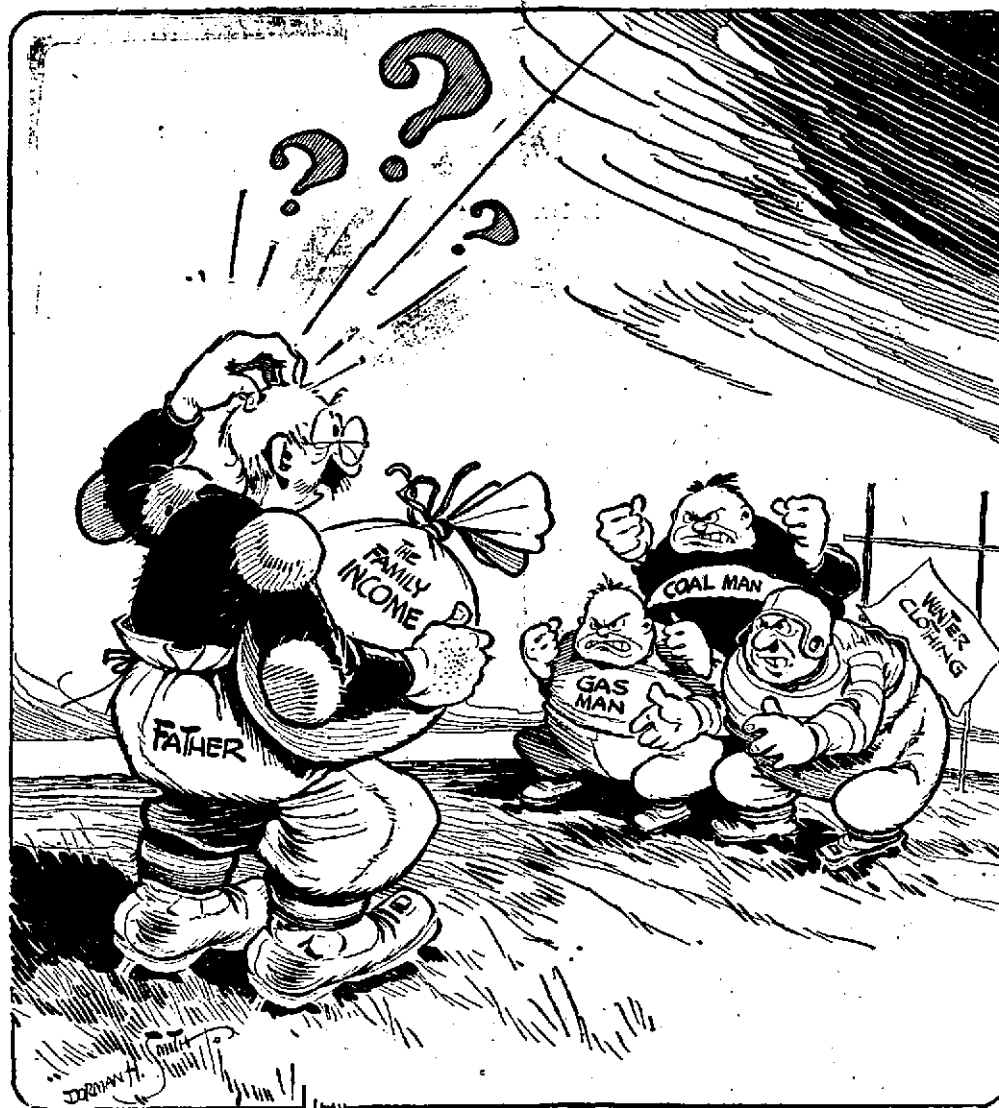

The suggestion of Douglas Morris
of a memorial similar to the
one for Dr. William B. Laughlin,
first Rush county citizen, in memory of Governor Samuel Bigger, once a Rush county citizen and former governor of Indiana, was made soon after a tablet to mark the grave of Governor Bigger was unveiled in McCulloch park at Fort Wayne,
newspaper dispatches from Fort Wayne reveal. Regarding the unveiling, the Fort Wayne dispatch
continues:

The exercises were held under the auspices of the Fort Wayne Historical society. Samuel Bigger was elected governor of Indiana in 1840
at a time when Indiana was in financial turmoil and legislative difficulties. He made possible the establishment of the Indiana School
for Feeble-Minded Youth.

His body was the only one not removed from the graveyard which is now McCulloch park, to Linden-wood cemetery. The original inscription on a small headpiece was:
"Samuel Bigger, late Governor of
the state, died September 9, 1846,
in the forty-fifth year of his age. A patriot and a Christian, he died in
the full hope of a glorious immortality."

The donor of the tablet unveiled today is E. A. Barnes, assistant to the general manager of the Ft.
Wayne plant of the General Electric Company. Fred B. Shoaff, president
of the Allen County Bar Association, made the principal address.

Owners Required To Pay Federal Levy By Sept. 30, According To Revenue Office Statement

Tax Applies To All Persons Hauling Passengers For Hire By Means Of Automotive Power

A statement by the collector of
internal revenue in the district of
which Indianapolis is the center,
calls attention to the fact that the federal tax on automobiles used to haul people for hire must be paid by September 30.

Thetax is levied on school hacks
and school automobiles, as well as
auto buses and all classes of automobiles that are used to haul passengers for hire. The following statement calls attention to the fact that the tax must be paid on or before Sunday, or a penalty will be
invoked:

"Individual owners of school hacks and school automobiles, that
are hauling children for hire are subject to a special federal tax the same as individuals operating taxicabs or automobiles for hire.

"This tax is now due and must be paid and be in the hands of the Collector of Internal Revenue on or before the last day of the month, or September 30th, failure to pay this
tax on time means a penalty of 25 percent of the tax as well as an additional specific penalty of $1,000.

"Application for the above tax
must be signed before a Notary Public or some one authorized to witness a signature, and remittance
for same must be by certified check
bank draft or money order, payable
to M. Bert Thurman, collector of Internal revenue, personal checks are not accepted in payment of special taxes.

"This is very important to those concerned, as an application for a special tax must be filed within the
month in which the tax payer be-
that the penalty will be applied and collected.

"The above applies to all persons hauling passengers for hire by means of motive power."

Christian Churches Will Meet At
Big Flatrock And The Rev. C. M.
Yocum Will Speak

The annual county conference of the Christian churches of Rush
county will be held at the Big Flat-rock church, southwest of Rushville, next Thursday, and a representative attendance from all of
the seventeen congregations of the county is expected.

The Rev. C. M. Yocum of St.
Louis, formerly pastor of the Main Street church here, who is now one
of the executive secretaries of the United Christian Missionary society will attend the county conference and will make the principal address. The Rev. Mr. Yocum was here for the annual county meeting
and basket dinner of the Christian churches last July, which was held at Memorial park, and consented to return here for the regular meeting
of the county organization.

An excellent program is being arranged for the evening and the Big Flatrock congregation is exerting itself to provide splendid entertainment for the visitors. Some of the officers of the state organization
will be present, but it is not known here who they will be.

New officers will be elected at the business session. Walter E. Frazee, who has been county president
for the past few years, has gone to Long Beach California, for permanent residence, and his successor
will be named at that time.

Coolidge Asks Executives At West
Baden To Attend Conference

Madison, Wis., Sept. 28—President Coolidge today requested the
governors who plan to attend a conference of governors at West Baden, Ind., October 17, to meet with him in Washington immediately after conclusion of their meeting.

Miles C. Riley, secretary of the West Baden conference, wired Bascom Slomp, secretary to Mr. Coolidge that the governors would be
in Washington on October 20.

While the telegram from the White House did not state the nature of the Washington conference, it was assumed prohibition enforcement
would be discussed.

LIBERALS PLAN A FARM SUBSIDY

Money Will Be Slashed Ruthlessly

WOULD WRECK BUDGET PLAN

Farm Bloc Leaders Say They Will Hold This Program as Club Over Administration

By LAWRENCE MARTIN
(U. P. Staff Correspondent)
(Copyright 1923)

Washington, Sept. 28—Unless effective help is rendered the farmers
the agricultural and liberal bloc in
congress will get behind "a farm
subsidy bill" in December, the money
for which will be slashed ruthlessly
from appropriations for government departments.

This is the heroic measure determined on by the bloc leaders, who
are patting the utmost pressure on
the administration to start action
on the agricultural problem.

If such a revolutionary step were
resorted to, it would mean wrecking
of the governments whole budget
program and would involve a fight
to a knockout between administration forces and the liberals, who will hold the balance of power in congress.

Just what form the bill would take
has not been determined as bloc
leaders, who have discussed the plan
say they will hold it as a last resort,
keeping it as a club over the administration to force action instead of
more talk and conference about the farmer.

But the idea back of the plan is
that no money shall be granted for
the shipping board or for numerous bureaus of the government until the farmer has been taken care of.

more than 125.

Engene Pulliam of Franklin, re-

(By United Press)

Omaha, Neb., Sept. 28.—A terrific wind and rain storm swept Nebraska from the Wyoming line almost to the Missouri river, a distance of 450 miles last night, demoralizing wire communication and
doing considerable property damage.
There were no casualties.

Twenty-five fruit cars were blown
from the Union Pacific tracks, street
signs blown down and several houses
wrecked at Bushnell Neb., where
the storm originated.

The storm swept eastward, the
wind diminishing and the rain increasing. At Grand Island, 300 miles east of Bushnell 3 inches of rain fell within half an hour.

Casper, Wyo., Sept. 28.—Rescue
of additional survivors today from the wreckage of train number 30 on the Burlington railroad which plunged through a bridge 14 miles from here cut the number missing to 20.
They are probably dead, in the opinion of C. A. McBride, assistant superintendent in charge of the rescue work.

All members of the train crew,
first believed lost were found alive
on the wreckage just out of reach,
of the swirling waters of the little
mountain stream swollen torrent by a cloud burst. All were seriously injured.

McBride's tabulation showed, of
the sixty passengers and six train-men aboard, the following were saved:

Thirty-two passengers in the two rear sleepers which remained on the tracks.

Fourteen passengers who were in
the two day coaches which tumbled into the creek. Most of these were seriously injured.

The train crew of six.
This leaves twenty still unaccounted for.

A flagman, Harry Cruze, was the only member of the train crew who escaped.

He was standing on the rear platform of the last Pullman when the train plunged into the torrent.

"I grabbed a rope and threw a
line to passengers clinging to portions of the wreck above water," Cruze said. "About a dozen were

LEGISLATORS RETURN HOME

Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 28—
Governor J. C. Walton today faced
two serious threats in his battle to prevent the Oklahoma legislature
from meeting in extra session to start impeachment proceedings against him.

First is the special election set for October 2, and held to be legal by
the Supreme Court at which voters
of the state will ballot upon an initiated law which would permit the legislature to set in a special session
without call from the governor.

Second was the application for an injunction filed in the district court
of Oklahoma county which would prevent the military authorities mobilized by Governor Walton to "suppress insurrection and riot" from interfering with the proposed meeting.

Members of the legislature who attempted unsuccessfully to assemble on Wednesday departed for their homes today and will await call
from their leaders.

The governor extended the enforcement of drastic martial law to Murray county on appeal from residents of Sulphur, a village of that county.

number of Rotary and popular songs and listened to vocal solos by Rotarians from the Shelbyville, Greensburg and Franklin clubs, and instrumental selections by the Neal trio.

Judge Sparks made the first address and deeply impressed the audience with his plea for the projection of the Rotary ideal of service into the everyday life of the community. He made the point that service is love and that men can not be of service to their fellows with hate and malice wrapped up in their hearts. Judge Sparks pleaded with Rotarians not to forget the good resolutions that they made around the banquet table, but to act on them and carry them out the next day and for all the days to come.

Other speakers followed the suggestions of Judge Sparks regarding the theory of service and Rollin Turner, in particular, laid particular stress on the importance of Rotarians living up their ideals in their business relations.

The district governor spoke on business methods, which is being stressed by Rotary International this year, and cited numerous examples of Rotarians who had put the theory of Rotary into actual practice in their retail, wholesale and manufacturing establishments, with especially splendid results.

He compared with business methods of today and of days past and showed how the successful business man of this age makes service to his customers the aim of his concern, because satisfied customers are the kind who come back.

AMUSEMENTS

"Gimme" At The Mystic

Another one of Goldwyn's Rupert Hughes pictures, a smiling comedy-drama of everyday American life, with a tear lurking in it, is coming to the Mystic Theatre today. It is called "Gimme" and the scenario was written by Mr. Hughes and his wife, Adelaide Hughes. It is said to be a picture which will appeal to every woman because it deals with that subject of perennial interest to womankind, a wife's financial dependence upon her husband—even for pocket money. All husbands and prospective husbands should see it to get a line on how to arrange domestic financial matters to keep their wives contented and happy.

Fanny Daniels marries Clinton Ferris, son of the wealthy Mrs. Roland Ferris, who objects to his throwing himself away on a mere designer in an interior decorating shop and promptly throws him upon his own financial resources. These prove not to be very great and Fanny finds herself wearing shabby clothes. She has no money and is ashamed to ask Clinton for it. Necessity finally drives her to ask and he gives her permission to draw out $200 from the $500 which they have in the bank. Fanny, however, is forced to draw out the entire amount to pay back a loan from the proprietor of the interior decorating shop to escape his unwelcome attentions. And when Clinton's check for $300 is returned marked no good there is an explosion, and going back to her old job. A reconciliation later takes place and Fanny is no longer forced to utter the hated "gimme."

Many Thrills At Princess

Twenty thousand dollars was spent by Thomas H. Ince in filming a remarkable historical prologue which is used in "Scars of Jealousy," his latest production. "Scars of Jealousy" will be shown at the Princess theatre today and Saturday.

A powerful story that carries a striking illustration of the force of heredity has been told in this production, which is laid in the little known feud hills of northern Alabama. When a "Cajon" boy, a lineal descendant of Count Cartier de Jacques who fled from France in pre-Revolution days and who, with other French emigres or "Acadians" was driven out of Nova Scotia by the British, is adopted by a fine old southern colonel, his blue blood triumphs over sordid hill generations. He works out not only his own salvation but also that of the colonel's wayward son.

The spectacular prologue shows the defiance of the famous old count; the sentence pronounced on him by Louis XV and his escape after a bloody street fight. When the news that he has fled to America is brought to the monarch, spectators who have gathered in the great throne room, burst into cheers, heralding the outbreak which resulted in the beheading of Louis XVI a short time later.

The scenes of the prologue have been screened with scrupulous historical fidelity and carry a tremendous "punch." They offer a striking contrast to the later scenes of the primitive conditions under which the descendants of the French nobility, "moonshiner" refugees in the Alabama hills, are living today.

HOW TO GET ON:—Ask, and it shall be given you; seek, and ye shall find.—Matthew 7: 7.

The Farmer and The Tariff

The broad statement that the tariff is of no benefit to the farmer is an assertion that is very likely to be accepted as true by many wheat producers in the Middle West who will be predisposed to accept any such theory because of the low prices they have suffered in recent months. Calm consideration of all the facts, however, will show that the statement is erroneous.

The word "farmer" includes many more of our citizens than the grain producers alone. In fact, wheat is only about six percent of our total agricultural production.

In the columns of agricultural papers there have recently been printed comparative figures concerning prices of wool. In these statements it has been shown that the price of wool has been advancing with the enactment of the Emergency Agricultural Tariff law and that the price has been on a profitable basis ever since, although wool producers were in distress before that tariff was imposed. It is admitted by agricultural papers not having any political affiliation that the wool tariff was the chief agency in restoring a profitable price for wool.

At the first suggestion that there be a reduction of the tariff on vegetable oils as one of their raw materials, there was a vigorous protest among the farmers of that section of the country which produces cotton seed or soy bean oil. They fully recognize the fact that the tariff on vegetable oils is their only guaranty against destructive competition from the cheap vegetable oils of the Orient. When it was proposed that there be an investigation of the tariff on lemons with a view to reducing the present duty on imports, there was an equally vigorous protest from the lemon growers of California who have on previous occasions experienced the destructive effects of the cheap importations from Europe.

But if this question was considered only from the standpoint of the interest of the wheat grower, a similar situation would be found. It is true that in the present season when there is an enormous domestic surplus and a poor market abroad, the tariff is of least benefit to the wheat grower. But even under these unusual and abnormal conditions the tariff has saved the American wheat grower from even lower prices than he has already suffered. The facts are clearly and convincingly stated in a recent article in "The Nation's Business" by Julius H. Barnes, President of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce and former U. S. Wheat Director. Mr. Barnes says:

"It plainly does not square with the present fact to state that protective duty on wheat is of no benefit to the American farmer, because in the American Northwest where crop yields have been most unfavorably affected this year and, therefore, the need of adequate price is most insistent, the effect of this protection against similar qualities of wheat produced just across the intangible line of the Canadian border is clearly marked. For instance, the new crop of northern spring wheat of strong milling qualities has advanced in price recently in the Minneapolis market until it could be sold for fall delivery at $1.15 per bushel. The same quality wheat of equal milling value for fall delivery in the Winnipeg market will not bring over 95 cents at the time this comparison is written. Moreover, the Canadian farmer is paid in Canadian dollars which are 2 percent below American dollars in buying value today."

Without the American protective tariff, of which Canadian farmers are greatly complaining, the surplus in the American market would be augmented by the surplus available in Canada.

Firpo Knocked Out in First

(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, Sept. 28—No loser ever won more prestige or earned more glory in defeat than Luis Angel Firpo did when he was knocked out by Jack Dempsey in a fight that for thrills, action and savage fighting surpassed any drama ever enacted in a ring or on the stage.

Rather unfortunately for him, Firpo was not restrained by his advisors from making some allis about the referee that, even if they were true, detracted somewhat from the sportsmanship that the Argentine was thought to have possessed.

Firpo did not need an alibi for the showing he made in the ring against the champion. He was not expected to make any excuses for a showing that was the bravest and most gallant that a fighter has ever shown in such an important contest.

When Firpo said that he was fouled twice by Dempsey he was partially right. Dempsey did hit him once on the breakaway; Dempsey did hit him on one occasion when the round had ended, and the champion may have punched him once before he was back in a fighting position after a knockdown.

Firpo should have known, however, that the infractions of the rules were staged when both fighters were in such a frenzy of excitement and when they were both punched so dizzy that they had no idea that rules ever existed and when they were influenced only by the savage dictates of self-preservation.

that he did not hear the timekeeper coming at any time during the bout, but Firpo should take the word of unprejudiced writers in the press-box who KNOW that he was knocked out in the first round before Dempsey had done anything about which he complained.

Early in the first round, Firpo was on the floor for the count of ten. He was not declared out because the new system of counting established in New York failed to work perfectly under the stress and intense excitement of the moment.

There are two timekeepers at the ringside, as provided for in the New York rules. One handles the bell and the other timekeeper arises on a knockdown and calls the count from his watch. The referee follows the count of the timekeeper.

When Firpo went to the floor this particular time, the timekeeper reached ten, beyond all question of doubt. He hesitated then, apparently expecting the referee to declare "Out". The referee looked at the timekeeper and just as apparently thought that it was his duty to declare the fight ended.

In that second or two of hesitation, Firpo arose to his feet and the fight went on, although he had been really knocked out.

Dempsey's offense in hitting Firpo on the breakaway did not make him liable for disqualification. Both fighters were told, even if it should have been unnecessary, that they were to defend themselves at all times, and when Firpo failed to do so, it was his own fault.

The champion could have been disqualified for not going to a neutral corner after each down and for striking Firpo after the gong had ended the first round. However, the referee did not discriminate against Firpo in failing to declare Dempsey the loser on a foul.

It was just as apparent to the ringsiders as it was known by the referee that Dempsey was not in full possession of his faculties. It was realized that he hadn't heard the bell in the first round and that his head was so clouded that he couldn't find his corner until one of his seconds came out after him.

The Score Board

With a rookie pitcher and three substitutes, the Yankees beat the Red Sox, 8 to 3. Bob Muesel wrenched his knee on the bases and Pipp turned an ankle before the game.

O'Farrell's homer with two on gave the Cubs an early lead and they beat the Pirates 8 to 2.

The Tigers gained a game on the Cleveland Indians in the fight for second place, by beating them 5 to 4. Heilmann's eighteenth homer won the game.

Boeckel's homer with two on upset Jimmy Ring and the Braves beat the Phils 7 to 2.

BIG TEN BRIEFS

Columbus. —While the line men were kept busy tackling the dummy, Coach Wilce gave his back field candidates individual instruction in open field running, showing them the art of side-stepping and stiff arm guarding.

Iowa City, Ia. —Coach Tad Jones is making so many changes in the line up these days he sends his charges through the signal drill, it is impossible to guess how he will arrange his men against Oklahoma Saturday. Roberts seems to be a fixture at half, displacing Yorkes. Chicago. —Following his custom Coach Stagg is expected to employ little outside of line bucks when he sends his men against Michigan Aggies here Saturday. He will keep his tricks under cover until the conference season starts. John Thomas, hero of the 1922 campaign, shows steady improvement and may be ready within two weeks.

Minneapolis, Minn. —Two Minnesota regulars were put on the injured list, yesterday. Madison, Wis. —Tom Nichols, center on the Badger eleven will be out of the game for several weeks with an injured shoulder. The rest of the team came through a hard scrimmage session without damage. Bloomington, Ind. —Coach Ingram cut his squad from 65 to 55 and then urged more than 100 huskies in the school to come "out and draw suits and get into the game." He said he needed more substitutes to fall back on in case of injuries.

Urbana, Ill. —Filling his varsity line with the heaviest men available, Coach Bob Zupke put a team on the field which for the first time this season successfully turned back the freshman attack. The backfield men were not worked hard.

Ann Arbor, Mich. —Coach Yost called off a schedule scrimmage session to give his charges a lecture, telling them where they have been doing it all wrong and showing them how to do it right.

South Bend, Ind. —Although several of his regulars on the hospital list, Coach Kaute Roekke has selected its team as it will face Kalamazoo college Saturday. His men were given a light workout yesterday.

Evanston, Ill. —Bob Wienecke, Northwestern's toe artist was on the field again yesterday after recovering from an attack of boils and lifted the oval consistently over the 55 foot mark. While Coach Thistlewaite intored the backfield men, Duke dunne and "Chuck" Carney, drove the line and wing men through some intensive work.

Due to the storm, telephone lines were down and great difficulty was experienced in summoning aid.

H. C. Bubb, an ice man of Casper was the first to bring news of the disaster here. A relief train carrying doctors and nurses was immediately dispatched.

Survivors said there were five men in the smoker when the train plunged into the creek. The smoker was just behind the baggage car and was the first to hit the water.

These five with all occupants of the day coach and all but about five who were in the second day coach were believed to have perished without a chance to save themselves.

Most of those aboard the train, enroute from Casper to Denver, were believed to be residents of those two towns and other intermediate cities.

It was nearly two hours after the wreck when Bubb reached Casper with the news. He was shaken and haggard and nearly a nervous wreck from his experience.

Rescue workers who toiled throughout the early hours of the morning were unable to make much progress due to the high water.

Five passengers who escaped from the submerged day coaches with minor injuries, were being cared for on the east bank of the river by rescue workers sent from her on a special train.

A crew of workers also was engaged on the other bank of the river and they had taken seven who were still alive from the muddy waters.

The Burlington crosses the Big Muddy near Lockett, about 14 miles from Casper.

The Burlington superintendent in charge of the rescue train telephoned the dispatcher's office here that he believed between 35 and 40 had lost their lives.

Besides two day coaches, a mail, a baggage and an express car went into the creek and were completely covered by the little stream which is usually little more than a brook-let.

Rain had been falling throughout the day along the head waters of the Big Muddy but railroad officials did not have a thought that there would be any danger.

No. 30 was traveling about 40 miles an hour when it hit the bridge weakened by water.

The bridge crumpled beneath the engine. As the engine nose-dived into the deep water and mud, the other cars went over it in leap-frog fashion. One chair car and one Pullman were only partly submerged and passengers who escaped sprawled to the upper ends in terrified groups. Only two coaches of the seven car train failed to go into the water.

Charles McLoeken, of Denver, who escaped from one of the day coaches said he didn't believe more than 15 in the two passenger coaches were saved.

"I believe there were at least 100 in the two coaches," he said.

The conductor of the train apparently lost his life, as railroad officials have not heard from him since the wreck. He carried the records and it will be impossible to check up definitely the number of passengers aboard.

"I was sitting about the middle of the front day coach," McLoeken said.

"The train appeared to be traveling at normal speed. Suddenly I felt a jar as apparently the baggage car in front of our coach went into the water.

"Almost instantly the front end of our car started to tip downwards. "I jumped through a window and cleared the car just as it became submerged. With a few others I made my way to shore. We helped pull two or three injured from the water and then sent couriers to nearby phones to summon aid."

evident the Bavarian dictatorship of Dr. Von Kahr, at least in its inception, certainly was not a maneuver to further separation of Bavaria from the Reich, or designed against the federal government.

Indeed, events indicated the Bavarian dictatorship was an iron-handed eleventh hour move to halt the Bavarian Fascist, led by Herr Hitler and supported by General Ludendorff, both of whom Von Kahr apparently hated, as plotters behind the scenes.

Munich advisers said Von Kahr was particularly determined that Ludendorff's constantly plotting for the restoration of the monarchy should be stopped.

The 24 hour strike called by communists when cessation of passive resistance was ordered, apparently was only partly successful.

In Berlin the federal authority vested in national Dictator Gessler seemed to have general support. Leaders, government officials and representatives of employers throughout the Reich met last night and pledged themselves to support the government.

Examination to Determine Whether Mrs. Charles Webb Died of Natural Causes

White Plains, N. Y., Sept. 28—Toxicologists are making an examination today to determine whether Mrs. Charles Webb, daughter of S. Jennings Gorman, millionaire, was poisoned or died of natural causes.

Mrs. Webb, a bride of less than a year died at the West Chester Billmore Club last Tuesday. Dr. Willmer Meyer, the attending physician, asked Coroner Fitzgerald to make an examination prior to the signing of a death certificate.

"The test is being made because there was doubt as to whether Mrs. Webb died a natural death," the coroner said today.

"An aunt and uncle of the deceased, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. T. Hunter of Devon, Pa., joined with the physician in asking for the examination."

The dead woman's viscera was removed and turned over to Dr. Goettler, New York Toxicologist, and several other experts in poisons. Their report is expected today or tomorrow.

OBTAINS RELEASE OF HER HUSBAND AND AUTO

Mrs. George Remus Puts Up Checks Amounting to $3,500 in Shelbyville Court

AFTERMATH OF AUTO WRECK

Shelbyville, Ind., Sept. 28—Mr. and Mrs. George Remus of Cincinnati, O., have left this city, taking Mrs. Remus's big touring car in which a quantity of whisky was found following an accident east of Morristown last week, and also driving away the roadster that Remus drove to Shelbyville and that was held as surety for the check he presented as bond following his arrest here on a charge of transporting intoxicating liquor.

Mrs. Remus arrived in Shelbyville from Cincinnati with funds to cover the bonds for the release of her husband and his car, and to obtain her own automobile, which she claims was stolen from in front of her home in Cincinnati. A certified check for $1,000 was given as the bond of Remus and a check for $2,500 was given by Mrs. Remus for the release of her automobile. The case of Remus for transporting intoxicating liquor has been set for Oct. 8 in Police court here.

Authorities stated today that no further development has been made in the investigation of the finding of the whisky in the automobile east of Morristown. Remus asserts that he was in Louisville on the night of the wreck and that he had no knowledge of the liquor, stating that the car being used had been stolen. Federal prohibition officers, attached to the office of Bert Morgan, federal prohibition director at Indianapolis, are continuing their work on the case in preparation for the trial of Remus here on October 8.

HIGH SCHOOL PRESS IN SESSION TONIGHT

Senator Watson And Others Will Speak at Annual Meeting of State Press Association

MANY PUPILS WILL ATTEND

Franklin, Ind., Sept. 28—Senator James E. Watson, Fred Shortmeyer, former Washington Correspondent; Lee D. White, editorial chief of the Detroit Evening News, and James A. Stuart, managing editor of The Indianapolis Star, will be the headline speakers for the annual banquet of the Indiana High School Press Association to be held here this evening. The banquet will be the red letter event of the press convention and according to reservations already made more than three hundred high school journalists and Indiana newspaper men will attend.

The four speakers are all Hoosiers. Three of them are still active in Indiana affairs, and Mr. White is a former DePauw University man. He is now editorial chief of the Detroit News and is a member of the faculty of the Medill School of Journalism at Northwestern University. Eugene Pulliam, editor of Franklin Star, who last week purchased the Lebanon Reporter, will be toastmaster for the banquet. Franklin college students in charge of the convention are arranging a series of clever entertainment stunts.

Interest in the press convention has become state-wide and practically every newspaper in Indiana has made favorable editorial comment on the plans and purposes of the association. The organization of high school journalists was perfected at a convention here last year and has become the strongest high school association in the state, the Indiana High School Athletics Association alone excepted.
